MEETING OF THE FIVE ON ARMS TRANSFERS AND NON-PROLIFERATION, LONDON 17/18 OCTOBER 1991

1. In accordance with their agreement in Paris on 8 and 9 July 1991, representatives of the United States of America, the People's Republic of China, France, the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland, and the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics met in London on 17 and 18 October to take forward their discussions on issues related to conventional arms transfers and to the non-proliferation of weapons of mass destruction.
2. Recalling the statement which was issued in Paris on 9 July, they:
 - agreed common guidelines for the export of conventional weapons (annexed). They expressed the hope that other arms exporting countries will adopt similar guidelines of restraint;
 - agreed to inform each other about transfers to the region of the Middle East, as a matter of priority, of tanks, armoured combat vehicles, artillery, military aircraft and helicopters, naval vessels, and certain missile systems, without prejudice to existing commitments to other Governments;
 - agreed to make arrangements to exchange information for the purpose of meaningful consultation, bearing in mind their shared concern to ensure the proper application of the agreed guidelines, and to continue discussions on how best to develop these arrangements on a global and regional basis in order to achieve this objective;
 - welcomed work at the United Nations General Assembly on the early establishment of a United Nations register of conventional arms transfers, and supported the current consultations on this issue between a wide range of United Nations members in which they are actively participating. They called for universal support for this work;
 - noted the threats to peace and stability posed by the proliferation of nuclear weapons, chemical and biological weapons, missiles etc, and undertook to seek effective measures of non-proliferation and arms control in a fair, reasonable, comprehensive and balanced manner on a global as well as on a regional basis. They reaffirmed the importance of maintaining stringent and, so far as possible, harmonized guidelines for exports in this area. They embarked on a comparison of their national export controls on equipment related to weapons of mass destruction and agreed to examine the scope for further harmonization of those controls. They agreed to pursue discussions at their next meeting on these subjects;
 - agreed to continue discussing the possibilities for lowering tension and arms levels, including the development of further measures and restraint concerning arms transfers and ways of encouraging regional and global efforts towards arms control and disarmament;
 - agreed to continue to give these efforts high priority and meet again in the new year in the United States to take forward their discussions, and to meet regularly thereafter at least once a year.

reaffirming the inherent right to individual or collective self-defence recognized in Article 51 of the Charter of the United Nations, which implies that States have the right to acquire means of legitimate self-defence, recalling that in accordance with the Charter of the United Nations, United Nations Member States have undertaken to promote the establishment and maintenance of international peace and security with the least diversion for armaments of the world's human and economic resources, declare that, when considering under their national control procedures conventional arms transfers, they intend to observe rules of restraint, and to act in accordance with the following guidelines:
